

LND

server/alastair parvin

Server is an agricultural planning experiment, addressing the question of how we will feed cities after oil. It takes a section of one of the UK's most crucial pieces of road infrastructure, and rigorously investigates its redesign as a self-sufficient farming belt. It is both a proposal and a speculation on design, knowledge, farming, cities, citizenship and the coming industrial revolution.

Alastair Parvin

www.bemakeshift.com

